PREFACE.

Several years ago I had prepared, at an enormous expense and great labor, a compilation of all the laws of Texas in ten volumes. Since then I have had in mind the preparation of an index to those volumes. To this end I secured the services of Colonel George P. Finlay, of Galveston, Texas, who is a lawyer of eminent ability and who has had experience in making indexes. In presenting this work to the bar of Texas we were under the necessity of choosing between an attractive, short and pointed work of such size as to be of practical value to the profession, or presenting a heavy, detailed work, suitable for the historian or scholar, which would necessarily be cumbersome and unwieldy. We preferred the former as of more value to the lawyers of the State.

The style followed is both alphabetical and chronological, involving a mass of figures almost incredible. That mistakes will occur is inevitable. We trust, however, that the use of cross-references and a condensed index in the front of this volume will minimize any inconvenience from this source.

D. E. Simmons, of the Austin bar, formerly assistant Attorney General, deserves special mention for the aid he has given in perfecting the work and in reading the proof. If we have aided the lawyers in finding the law, our efforts have not been in vain.
